The diagram illustrates the back of a Japanese envelope. It features a rectangular frame with a triangular flap at the top and bottom. A vertical line runs down the center, connecting two circular seals, each containing the character '印' (Seal). On the left side of the envelope, there are two vertical columns of text and circles. The first column contains the text '差出人名' (Sender's Name) followed by '会社名' (Company Name) and a series of seven circles. The second column contains the text '差出人住所' (Sender's Address) followed by a series of ten circles.
